

Brian Anthony, M.A.

Brian Anthony has spent his life trying to live up to the challenge that his grandfather set for him – to affect change in one’s community. A lifelong Cleveland resident, Brian has not only been educated in the Cleveland area but has stayed to give today’s children the same opportunities that he had. A former classroom educator for nearly a decade, Brian made it his goal to not just teach his students about the content, but to educate his students on how to embrace the idea that the best learning comes from outside of the classroom.

In his time at The Diversity Center, Brian has been all over Northeast Ohio facilitating workshops for thousands of students and hundreds of educators. In his role as Senior Program Associate, Brian has aimed and honed his approach to a simple concept: just getting people to try to have a conversation with one another. As Brian sees it, “in opening up, today’s future leaders will not only grow to find confidence in themselves and their stories but more importantly it will allow them to see the different perspectives and strengths in others’ journeys.” And to Brian, this is what this work is all about – having real, honest dialogue that allows the students and staff to recognize people for who they are, not what they are.

Experience:

- Demonstrated content knowledge of Integrated Social Studies curricula
- Passion for diversity, equity and inclusion work
- Program development and delivery for K-12 schools
- Relationship-building skills for students in grades 6-12

EDUCATION

M.A., Public Administration

Cleveland State University
Cleveland, OH

B.A., History & Political Science

Case Western Reserve University
Cleveland, OH